

Basketball Australia Illicit Drugs Policy – Q & A

What is Basketball Australia's position on Illicit drugs?

Illicit drugs are harmful and there is no place for them in basketball.

The use of illicit drugs by participants can bring basketball into disrepute and sets a poor example for other members of the community who view participants as role models.

Basketball Australia and its Member Organisations are committed to the health, safety and well-being of all our participants. Basketball Australia is dedicated to providing a safe, drug-free environment for participating in the sport of basketball throughout Australia.

What is Basketball Australia doing to prevent illicit drugs in basketball?

Basketball Australia has established The National Integrity Framework – a suite of policies, educational materials and other resources that safeguard basketball against corruption. The Framework applies to all competitions and events conducted under the auspices of Basketball Australia or a member state/territory association, including the National Basketball League.

The Framework includes a policy regarding illicit drugs. It sets the broad expectations for the conduct of all Participants, but also incorporates detailed policies to regulate behaviour and ensure action can be taken against those who fail to adhere to behavioural standards and expose the sport to undue risk.

Who does this policy apply to?

This policy applies to all Participants and Clubs involved with the following Competitions or Events:

- National Basketball League • Women's National Basketball League • National Wheelchair Basketball League
- Women's National Wheelchair Basketball League • South East Australian Basketball League • Big V State Championship • Queensland Basketball League • Warratah League Championship • State Basketball League (Western Australia) • State Basketball League (Tasmania) • Premier League (South Australia) • Premier League (ACT) • Premier League (NT)

What drugs are considered 'illicit' by Basketball Australia?

Illicit drugs include illegal drugs (such as cannabis), pharmaceutical drugs (such as pain-killers, tranquillisers) when used for non-medical purposes (strictly an illicit behaviour), and other substances used inappropriately (such as inhalants). Illicit drugs fall into three main categories: stimulants (amphetamines, cocaine), depressants (opiates including heroin) and hallucinogens (LSD, Magic Mushrooms).

Any modifications to the List of Prohibited Illicit Drugs will be approved by Basketball Australia's Board and modifications will come into effect three months after adoption by the Board and will then be automatically prohibited. Basketball Australia will update the List of Prohibited Illicit Drugs as required. All updates will be published on Basketball Australia's website.

What's the difference between illicit drugs and anti-doping?

The Illicit Drugs policy focuses on addressing the out-of-competition use of Illicit Drugs, as opposed to those which enhance in-competition performance.

Basketball Australia has adopted and implemented an anti-doping policy and rules which conform to the World Anti-Doping Code. The World Anti-Doping Code Prohibited List includes illicit drugs which are prohibited in competition. See the full list here: <http://basketball.net.au/wp-content/uploads/2017/04/Appendix-3-Illicit-Drugs-Policy-Effective-1-July-2017.pdf>

I don't use drugs – so what do I need to do to comply with the illicit-drugs policy?

You need to know and follow the policy. Everyone has a role to play to ensure illicit drugs are kept out of basketball. This includes:

- Reading and understanding the List of Prohibited Drugs in schedule 1 of the policy;
- Not possessing, using, administering or trafficking any of illicit drugs set out in the List of Prohibited Illicit Drugs in schedule 1 of the policy;
- Talking to your friends and fellow players about Basketball Australia's education messages regarding illicit drugs; and
- Acting in a discreet and confidential manner in discharging their obligations under this policy in reporting issues.

Everyone goes out and gets high sometimes. It's got nothing to do with our on-court behaviour.

Illicit drug use is harmful and can affect your performance; it can also damage the reputation of you and your team. Players possessing, using, trafficking or administering any of the substances or class of substances set out in the List of Prohibited Illicit Drugs in schedule 1 of the policy, at any time, are breaching the Illicit Drugs Policy.

Some members of teams in my competition smoke marijuana pretty regularly. I'm not involved and it's got nothing to do with me, right?

Wrong. The illicit Drugs policy is not just about using and trafficking illicit drugs, but also the reporting of illicit drug use. Failure to promptly disclose that you know or reasonably suspect that any current or former player or BA Participant has engaged in Prohibited Conduct, or been approached to engage in Prohibited Conduct under this policy is a breach of the Illicit Drugs policy.

How do I report a breach of the Illicit Drugs policy?

Speak up! We all have a duty to speak up when we see something that is a breach of this policy.

What will Basketball Australia do to support those involved with illicit drugs?

Basketball Australia will focus on working with qualified providers on educating and counselling those involved in the use of illicit drugs.

However, for cases of repeated use where counselling and education have not been effective, BA may refer the matter to a hearing panel who may consider playing or other sanctions against those involved.

We know about anti-doping, but this is the first we've heard about illicit drugs. How is Basketball Australia seeking to educate participants about illicit drugs?

Basketball Australia's education strategy is consistent with the Australian Government Illicit Drugs in Sport program. Key messages of this education focus on:

- illicit drug use is harmful;
- illicit drug use can affect your sporting performance – in or out of competition, during the off-season or on the weekend;
- illicit drug use can affect your reputation and sporting career;
- illicit drug use can affect your sports team;
- illicit drug use can impact on the community who support you; and
- participating in sport supports a healthy lifestyle.

Are there any free e-learning courses available?
